Introduction

The Young Christian Workers (YCW) is committed to the highest possible standards of openness, honesty, integrity and accountability. The YCW acknowledges that employees are often the first to realise that there may be something seriously wrong within their organisation and that the YCW needs to encourage employees and others with concerns to come forward and be able to voice them i.e. whistle blow.

This policy has been revised to take into account the following guidance:

“Whistleblowing Arrangements Code Practice” issued by the British Standards Institute and Public Concern at Work. <http://www.gov.uk/government/publications/whistleblowing-guidance-and-code-of-practice-for-employers>,

Sir Robert Francis’s Freedom to Speak Up review report: freedomtospeakup.org.uk. *

*(Whilst the Freedom to Speak Up report is written primarily about the NHS, Sir Robert’s findings can be applied in other fields, including those organisations covered by Working Together to Safeguard Children (2018).

Aims

This policy aims to:

- Encourage employees to feel confident in raising concerns;
- Reassure employees that, when they make a disclosure they will be protected from reprisals or victimisation;
- Provide avenues for an employee to raise concerns and receive feedback on any action taken;
- Ensure that employees get a response to the concerns they have raised and, if not satisfied, explains how they may take the matter further.

Scope

This policy applies to all employees, volunteers, agency workers, contractors and suppliers.

Responsibilities

The Board of Trustees has overall responsibility for this policy, and for reviewing the effectiveness of actions taken in response to concerns raised under this policy.

The Whistleblowing Officer has day-to-day operational responsibility for this policy, and must ensure that all managers and other staff who may deal with concerns or investigations under this policy receive regular and appropriate training.

The Whistleblowing Officer will maintain a corporate register of the number and nature of the concerns raised and the outcomes (but in a form which does not endanger confidentiality) and will report as necessary to the Board of Trustees, where appropriate.

All staff are responsible for the success of this policy and should ensure that they use it to disclose any suspected danger or wrongdoing.

What is whistleblowing?

Whistleblowing is the disclosure of information, which relates to suspected wrongdoing or dangers at work. This may include:

- Criminal activity;
- Failure to comply with any legal or professional obligation or regulatory requirements;
- Miscarriages of justice;
- Danger to health and safety;
- Damage to the environment;
- Bribery
- Financial fraud or mismanagement;
- Negligence;
- Breach of our internal policies and procedures including the Trust's Code of Conduct;
- Conduct likely to damage the Trust/Academy's reputation;
- Unauthorised disclosure of confidential information;
- Action which falls below the Trust/Academy's standards of practice
- Abuse (e.g. physical, sexual)
- Discrimination to any worker or service recipient e.g. disability, race, etc.
- The deliberate concealment of any of the above matters.

A whistleblower is a person who raises a genuine concern relating to any of the above.

If you have any genuine concerns related to suspected wrongdoing or danger affecting any of the YCW activities (a whistleblowing concern) you should report it under this policy.

This policy should not be used for complaints relating to your own personal circumstances, such as the way you have been treated at work. In those cases, you should use the Grievance Procedure or Bullying Policy as appropriate.

Whistleblowing concerns usually relate to the conduct of our staff, but they may sometimes relate to the actions of a third party, such as a supplier or service provider.

Protection and support for whistleblowers

It is understandable that whistleblowers are sometimes worried about possible repercussions. The YCW encourages openness and will support staff who raise genuine concerns under this policy, even if they turn out to be mistaken. The YCW recognises that the decision to make a disclosure can be a difficult one to make, not least because of the fear of reprisal from those responsible for the malpractice or from other employees. The YCW will not tolerate bullying, harassment or victimisation and will take action to protect you when you raise a concern using this policy.

Whistleblowers must not suffer any detrimental treatment as a result of raising a concern. Detrimental treatment includes dismissal (including selection for redundancy), disciplinary action, threats or other unfavourable treatment connected with raising a concern. Employees who make a disclosure that is deemed to be in the public interest are protected from suffering a detriment in their employment under the Public Interest Disclosure Act 1998 (PIDA).

Confidentiality

The YCW will do its best to protect your identity when you raise a concern and do not want your name to be disclosed. If you ask us to protect your identity by keeping your confidence, we will not disclose it without your consent or unless instructed by a Tribunal or Court. If the situation arises where we are not able to resolve the concern without revealing your identity (e.g. a statement by you may be required as part of the evidence) we will discuss with you whether and how we can proceed.

Anonymous allegations

This policy strongly encourages you to put your name to your allegation. Concerns expressed anonymously will be much more difficult for the YCW to look into or to protect your position or to give you feedback. Concerns raised anonymously are much less powerful and less likely to be effective, but they will be considered at the discretion of the YCW.

In exercising discretion, the factors to be taken into account would include:

- The seriousness of the issues raised;
- The credibility and plausibility of the concern; and
- The likelihood of confirming the allegation from attributable sources.

Untrue or Malicious Allegations

If you make an allegation that you reasonably believe is true but it is not confirmed by the investigation, no action will be taken against you. If, however, you make malicious or vexatious allegations, disciplinary action may be taken against you.

How to make a disclosure

As a first step, you should normally raise concerns with your immediate manager or their superior. This depends, however, on the seriousness and sensitivity of the issues involved and who is thought to be involved in the malpractice. For example, if you believe that management is involved, you should approach either the HR Trustee or another delegated Trustee. If you have a concern about these officers, you should approach the Chair of Trustees.

Concerns can be raised verbally but are better raised in writing. You are invited to set out the background and history of the concern, giving names, dates and places where possible, and the reason why you are particularly concerned about the situation. If you do not feel able to put your concern in writing, you can telephone or meet the appropriate person.

The earlier you express the concern, the easier it is to take action. Although you are not expected to prove the truth of an allegation, you will need to demonstrate to the person contacted that there are sufficient grounds for your concern.

You may also invite your trade union or professional association to raise a matter on your behalf.

How the YCW will respond

The action taken by the Trust will depend on the nature of the concern. The matters raised may:

- Be investigated internally;
- Be referred to the Police.

In order to protect individuals and the YCW, initial enquiries will be made to decide whether an investigation is appropriate and, if so, what form it should take. Concerns or allegations which fall within the scope of specific procedures (for example, child protection) will normally be referred for consideration under those procedures. Some concerns may be resolved by agreed action without the need for investigation.

Within ten working days of a concern being received, the YCW will write to you:

- Acknowledging that the concern has been received;
- Indicating, in overall terms, how it proposes to deal with the matter;
- Giving, where possible, an estimate of how long it will take to provide a final response;
- Telling you whether any initial enquiries have been made; and
- Telling you whether further investigations will take place, and if not, why not.

The amount of contact between those considering the issues and you, will depend on the nature of the matters raised, the potential difficulties involved and the clarity of the information provided. If necessary, further information will be sought from you.

When any meeting is arranged, you may to be accompanied by a Trade Union representative, a work colleague, or a friend who does not have a conflict of interest.

The YCW recognises that you need to be assured that the matter has been properly addressed and as such, where possible, the YCW will provide information in this regard.

Independent Advice

If you are unsure whether to use this Policy please speak to the Whistleblowing Officer – Marc Besford (National President), Tel: 0161 872 6017, E mail: marc@ycwimpact.com. Alternatively, you may want to seek independent advice by contacting:

- Your union;
- Your professional body
- The whistleblowing charity, 'Public Concern at Work' www.pcaw.org.uk.

External disclosures

This policy is intended to provide you with an avenue to raise concerns within the YCW and to give you the reassurance you need to raise such matters internally. The YCW hopes you will be satisfied. If you are not, and if you feel it is right to take the matter outside the YCW you should contact a prescribed person or body (guidance is available from GOV.UK - Blowing the whistle: list of prescribed people and bodies). This includes a list of public bodies, which can deal with particular areas of concern e.g. Education, Finance etc. You can also make a disclosure to a solicitor or the police.

You should tell the prescribed person or body if you think that the YCW:

- Will cover the issue up;
- Treat you unfairly if you complained;
- Hasn't sorted the issue out and you've already reported it.
